How did ex MP rack up £10k debt?

THE Commons expenses watchdog has been lambasted for failing to stop disgraced former MP Eric Joyce racking up debts of more than £10,000 to the taxpayer.

A review found the Independent Parliamentary Standards Authority was "complicit" as the ex-member for Falkirk filed invalid claims over a number of years.

No "decisive action" was taken despite clear evidence that he was "persistently misusing" his official credit card, and he was given "contradictory and misleading" information about the size of his debt.

The findings came in a review by Ipsa compliance officer Peter Davis into the handling of the case.

Mr Joyce (above) stepped down from the Commons at the election after being convicted of headbutting a Tory MP during a drunken bar brawl.

Rail workers' pay strike chaos looms

NETWORK Rail workers threw down the first big industrial relations challenge to the Government when they voted overwhelmingly in favour of going on strike over pay.

Members of the Rail, Maritime and Transport union backed walkouts by 4-1 on a turnout of 60%, beating planned Government thresholds on strike ballots.

Workers voted by a bigger margin – 92% – for other forms of industrial action, raising the threat of chaos on the railways.

UMUNNA CHUKAS HIS HAT INTO THE RING

He joins race to be new Labour leader

CHUKA Umunna has confirmed he will join the race to be Labour's next leader.

He said that he believed Labour could win power in five years' time, adding: "I want to lead that effort as part of a really big Labour team – getting Labour back into office."

Mr Umunna was speaking ahead of a meeting of Labour's national executive committee (NEC) to draw up a timetable for the contest to succeed Ed Miliband.

The shadow business secretary is the second candidate to formally throw his hat in the ring after shadow health minister Liz Kendall did so at the weekend.

He said he had held back from making his announcement while he spoke to defeated candidates from the party's disastrous general election performance.

Mr Umunna declared his intention to stand via a Facebook video recorded on a street in Swindon – one of the English towns where Labour failed to make the gains from the Conservatives it needed to return to power.

He appeared alongside defeated candidate Mark Dempsie, who he said was one of dozens of thwarted would-be MPs in key target seats to whom he'd spoken in the days since defeat led Miliband to quit.

"Of the 80 Tory seats we were targeting, we made a net gain of just four last Thursday. We have got to do better than that if we are to win next time," he said – dismissing suggestions from some in the party that it would need a decade to recover sufficiently to pose a threat.

He added: "We can and we should be winning in seats like Swindon. North, South, East, West – we can absolutely do it as a party."

"Some suggested over the last few days that this is now a 10-year project to get the Labour Party back into office."

"We can do it in five years. I want to lead that effort as part of a really big team, getting Labour back into office, changing this country and building a fairer, more equal society."

"That is why we all joined the party in the first place."

Defending his decision to remain coy about his intention in weekend interviews, he said he had wanted to discuss the challenges with defeated candidates first and "get out of London and say what I was going to be doing here".

Holiday

Labour is considering three approaches for staging the contest to succeed Ed Miliband, who is currently on holiday in Ibiza, with a final decision to be taken by the ruling national executive.

Others tipped to join the race are shadow education secretary Tristram Hunt, shadow home secretary Yvette Cooper and shadow health secretary Andy Burnham.

HUMAN RIGHTS PLAN IS STUR CRAZY

SCOTLAND will oppose any attempt by the UK to scrap the Human Rights Act north of the border, Nicola Sturgeon has said.

The First Minister slated the Conservatives' plan to replace the legislation with a British Bill of Rights after Scottish Secretary David Mundell insisted the move would apply to Scotland.

Sturgeon said: "I oppose the repeal of the Human Rights Act – I think it's an appalling thing to be doing."

"Human rights are there to protect all of us – it was the Human Rights Act that enabled people to go to court to object against the bedroom tax."

"Taking away human rights is an awful idea. The Scottish Government will work hard to make sure that here, people still get human rights protection."

Sturgeon is also unhappy

Farage: My resignation wasn't fake!

NIGEL FARAGE has denied claims his rejected resignation was stage-managed, insisting his original announcement was made with "absolute sincerity".

The Ukip leader says he was "as surprised as anyone" at being persuaded to stay on.

Farage (above), who described going into a darkened room for a few minutes before agreeing to return as leader, also dismissed the claim the episode exposed a lack of talent within Ukip.

Instead it showed he was a leader with "overwhelming support", he added.

He went on: "Nobody in Ukip feels like we have been beaten."

"People in Ukip are angry – we want change. Never before in the history of the British Parliament have so many people been so under represented."

"I will now increasingly campaign for us to have a Parliament and electoral system that stops the negativity and actually gives us MPs that represent the way people vote."

Death toll rises in new Nepal quake

AT least 42 people have been killed and more than 1,000 injured in the latest earthquake to hit Nepal.

It hit a remote mountain region, triggering landslides and toppling buildings less than three weeks after the country's worst quake in 80 years.

Rescue helicopters were sent to districts north east of Kathmandu after the magnitude 7.3 quake.

More than 100 people were injured in landslides around the village of Chautara.

Chautara has become a hub for humanitarian aid after the 7.8-magnitude quake on April 25 that killed more than 8,000 people and injured 18,000 as it flattened villages and destroyed buildings.

It was Nepal's worst quake since 1934.

SEXY Big Brother host Emma Willis says she's eager to squeeze into skin-tight lycra to revive classic Eighties telly show Challenge Anneka!

The BBC programme, first shown in 1989, saw babe Anneka Rice, 56, racing against the clock to solve a series of puzzles.

And feisty Emma, 39, wants to star in a new remake.

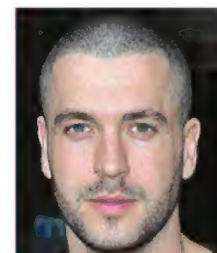

She revealed: "My fantasy TV job would be Challenge Anneka."

"You get to build stuff, climb stuff and wear a skin-tight jumpsuit. What's not to like?"

Meanwhile, Emma says she is relishing her role as the new Davina McCall fronting Big Brother.

She added: "It's the first time I felt comfortable doing my job."

"Before that I spent most of the time worrying about whether what I was doing was any good."

X Fac Shayne lands dream Corrie role!

FORMER The X Factor winner Shayne Ward is heading back to his hometown of Manchester after landing a plum role on Coronation Street.

The singer, who launched a pop career after winning the second series of the talent show, will play Aidan Connor.

His character is the cousin of Michelle Connor, played by Street regular Kym Marsh.

Shayne said: "On hearing the news I had been offered the part on the show, I was in total disbelief. It still hasn't sunk in!"

"It is an absolute dream come true. I'm excited to walk down those famous cobbles."

"My family and friends know just how much this means to me and I cannot wait to do them all proud."

The Manchester-born star, who has appeared on the West End stage in Rock Of Ages, has signed a one-year contract with the ITV soap.

Labour lost touch with 24hr boozin'

AS soon as David Cameron was re-elected, Brussels was making more demands before the new MPs had a chance to warm their backsides on the green leather of the House of Commons.

This time it's an EU Common Asylum Policy, whereby Brussels will tell us how many refugees we will have to take as a result of the current crisis in the Mediterranean.

We already take around 30,000 asylum seekers a year – but that's not good enough for Brussels, who want us to take 60,000.

I believe we should take in refugees – especially from Libya, because we helped cause the problem in the first place. But it should be our choice as to how many we take.

This gets right to the heart of the European Union. They think they can push us around and tell us what to do.

The PM must hold out and simply say, 'No, we can make our own decisions, thank you very much'.

If he doesn't, it will prove how futile his claims of EU renegotiation actually are.

SHOCK, horror – the Labour Party admitted during the election campaign that they got something wrong.

Was it the fact that when they were in power they opened up our borders to three million people? No.

Was it involving us in illegal wars? No.

Could it have been that they overspent and wrecked the economy? Definitely not.

No, they've admitted that the Licensing Act of 2003 was a mistake.

Now, I bet you're thinking, "So what?", but actually I struggle to think of another piece of legislation which better summed up how the metropolitan New Labour politicians lost touch with the communities they were meant to serve.

The 2003 act – which came into force in 2005 – allowed bars and clubs to extend their licences so, in some cases, they could serve booze for 24 hours.

Labour politicians thought if they extended the hours people could drink then we would develop a "café culture" just as they have in Madrid, Paris and Rome.

I used to live in Barcelona where there definitely was that culture the Labour luvvies wanted over here.

We used to sit watching the Spaniards – or Catalans – sip on a San Miguel or drink a coffee sitting outside bars well into the early hours.

It was all rather civilised. Boring – but civilised.

Then you'd chuckle because you'd think about Liverpool's Mathew Street or Newcastle's

Bigg Market and consider people sitting about and sipping coffee at two in the morning.

It just wouldn't happen and it doesn't matter how much Labour wanted it to, it just isn't British.

It might be in certain parts of oh-so-civilised London, where many of the Labour champagne socialists live, but not anywhere else.

Experiment

All this stupid piece of legislation achieved was more work for the police, who have since called 24 hour drinking a failed experiment, and an alcohol-related crime bill which is now costing the taxpayer a whopping £11 billion a year.

There's more work for hospitals as the number of people being admitted to A&E as a result of alcohol misuse had trebled by 2007, and by 2015 it is now costing the NHS £3 billion a year.

And of course it quickened

the death of the traditional British pub.

I was speaking to the 18-year-old nephew of one of my friends last week and asked him if he was going out that evening.

"Yes," he responded. I asked what time. "About midnight," he said.

You see, young people aren't going out until midnight and staying out until 6am because of this silly act.

It means they're not going to the local pub any longer, which closes at 11pm.

As a result of that loss of business, we have lost literally thousands of pubs and that figure grows on average at 28 pubs closing a week.

In their effort to be "progressive" the Labour luvvies put more strain on the police and the NHS while at the same time helping destroy a piece of British culture.

They have also helped turn many of our city centres into places of drunken carnage well into the early hours every Saturday and Sunday morning.

So well done, Labour. That one piece of legislation proved you know nothing about the people and communities you represent.

WHAT'S ANNOYING HIM THIS WEEK?

Loss carved on his Ed stone

PSSST... Over here... Got a bit of gossip for you.

Now, you didn't hear this from me, right?

Because I don't want to get flamed to death on that there internet thing where everyone is being incredibly tetchy.

But here's a tasty titbit for you in any case, which no-one seems to want to admit.

The Tories did NOT win the election last week.

What really happened is that Labour lost it – although you'll struggle to read anything about it on your social media networks.

Amid the rightful howls of anguish and gnashing of teeth, there seems to be no space to point out that the Labour vote suffered a virtual collapse.

They did gain a few hundred thousand extra voters – but against such a catastrophically unpopular government, it should and could have done miles better.

So where did it all go wrong? Precisely where many of us have been saying for years – Ed Miliband.

This has nothing to do with funny but irrelevant bollocks about whether or not he can eat a bacon sandwich without looking like he's taking a dump at the same time.

This is about whether an undoubtedly bright but exquisitely disconnected posh boy can persuade what we used to call the working class to put a tick next to a Labour representative's name.

Crucially, he could not.

Miliband spent the entire election and a large part of his leadership trashing or ignoring the 13 years when Labour actually held power after winning three elections on the trot.

He let Harriet Bloody Harman roam around in her pink battle bus, almost comically patronising the very female voters it was designed to attract.

His last-gasp attempt to rally the core Labour supporter was a bizarre 8ft piece of limestone with its carved "pledges".

And even then his campaign manager Lucy Powell took just hours to admit that the promises solemnly carved in stone were, er, not carved in stone after all. Awks.

The Ed-stone became a tombstone as would-be Labour voters stayed at home in their droves.

Miliband was an utterly predictable disaster – and an utter disaster for the party faithful forced to follow him.

The Lib Dems were crucified

ANYONE heard much from the political zeitgeist prophets Russell Brand or Steve Coogan in the last few days? No. Nor me.

last week, but their largely left-leaning support didn't see fit to transfer to Ed's men and women.

Instead it either disappeared entirely or filtered out to the Greens or UKIP.

It's all well and good to rage against Cameron remaining in No.10 and with a Tory majority for the first time since 1992.

But for all his shiny ham-faced, thin-lipped, smug-bastard smiles, David Cameron did not win on Thursday evening.

Miliband lost.

Celtic striker's 'Elvis assault' trial delayed

FOOTBALL star Anthony Stokes must wait until next year before facing trial for an alleged assault of an Elvis impersonator.

The Celtic and Republic of Ireland striker was due for trial this week at Dublin's Circuit Criminal Court.

But the hearing had to be delayed because no judges were available to take the case.

Lawyers for the 26-year-old Dubliner, who has been on bail since last year, asked for the case to be put in for mention again in six weeks' time.

But Judge Martin Nolan put the case back to January 20 next year.

Father-of-one Stokes appeared in court in a grey suit, white shirt and purple tie.

He was accompanied by his long-term girlfriend Debbie Lawlor.

The footballer, who lives in Glasgow, is charged with assault causing harm to Anthony Bradley, 42, at Buck Whaleys nightclub in Dublin on June 8, 2013.

MPs in £70,000 expenses storm

SIXTY MPs spent over £70,000 on new iPads, iPhones and laptops six months BEFORE the General Election.

The MPs ordered the equipment before claiming expenses for it – shortly before a moratorium came into force on such purchases, the Independent Parliamentary Standards Authority (Ipsa) said.

Ipsa wrote to those involved to seek assurances that they were using the equipment exclusively for parliamentary duties.

The expenses watchdog said no rules had been broken but advised MPs who were standing down or were defeated in the General Election to donate the devices to charity.

A spokesman said: "Having looked into these claims, we are satisfied they are within the rules."

HOW COPS BUNGLED SAVILE CARAVAN SEX ATTACK PROBE

ACCUSED OF 1970 ASSAULT: Savile

A POLICE force missed an opportunity to investigate Jimmy Savile by mishandling a report that he sexually assaulted a woman.

Detectives at Sussex Police did not follow all lines of inquiry properly after a woman alleged in March 2008 that she was attacked by Savile in a caravan in Worthing in 1970, the Independent Police Complaints Commission said.

Although there was no evidence that officers deliberately dissuaded the woman from pursuing the allegation, she felt reluctant to do so following contact with police, the IPCC report said.

IPCC deputy chair Sarah Greensaid: "Greater efforts should have been made by police to investigate the allegation and to encourage the

Woman's complaint was a missed opportunity

By HAYDEN SMITH

woman to support an investigation.

"She showed considerable courage in coming forward to police, but regrettably she felt that the two officers who visited her had a negative attitude towards her pursuing her allegation.

Experienced

"Not sending a trained female officer, coupled with the perceived absence of support, resulted in a missed opportunity by Sussex Police to investigate Savile in 2008."

A male constable and sergeant who visited the woman in March 2008 were experienced CID detectives.

The woman – referred to as Mrs A – told the IPCC that she was in her early 20s when she was the victim of a serious sexual assault by Savile in 1970 after meeting him at a Chelsea Pensioners event at Worthing Town Hall.

She did not report the incident to police at the time but did inform her then husband, who wrote a letter to Savile challenging him about it.

She described being "severely affected" by her experience over the years.

Mrs A contacted a newspaper to describe her experience at the hands of serial sex offender Savile, who died in 2011, after watching a documentary about the former Jim'll Fix It presenter.

After contacting police, two officers visited her later that day. She told IPCC investigators that she felt "they tried to frighten me off".

She said she was told Savile would have "the best lawyers in the country" who would make "mincemeat" out of her.

She also claimed both officers burst out laughing when Officer A said, "Well he didn't get his breakfast so he had to have his dinner" as she described how Savile behaved after the assault.

Difficult

An Acting Detective Chief Inspector who reviewed and closed the case in April 2008 said that without the woman's support it would be difficult to prove a sexual offence had taken place.

Four officers subject to the inquiry were found by the IPCC to have no case to answer for misconduct.

Others who have applied for their .Porn domain include Anne Hathaway, Blake Lively, Jennifer Garner, Jessica Biel and the estate of the late Marilyn Monroe.

The Channel 5 series returned to screens last night as another batch of hapless wannabes attempt to survive under the glare of the CCTV cameras.

And there's one sure-fire way to make the programme a ratings smash – unleash babes who just love FLASHING their breasts!

Sticky

The reality series has long been crammed with naked flesh, ever since it first appeared on Channel 4 back in 2000.

Now fans will be hoping new female contestants Sarah Greenwood, Adjoa Mensah, and busty twins Amy and Sally Broadbent will waste no time in getting 'em out!

One of the pioneers of BB nudity was sexy blonde Shell Jubin, 33, who shot to fame by STREAKING on the box in 2004.

Feisty Geordie Michelle Bass,

34, appeared in the same season as Shell – and not only did she go topless, she also BÖNKED a male housemate under a table!

Another top-heavy shagger was Makosi Musambasi, 34, who cropped up in 2005.

She romped with lucky chap Anthony Hutton in the pool, before worrying he'd got her PREGNANT with his sticky seed.

Other guests on the show, meanwhile, shunned human penises in favour of man-made objects.

Outrageous Kinga Karolczak, 30, famously inserted a WINE BOTTLE up her chuff in the BB's most controversial ever scenes back in 2005.

Other beauties launched a career in glamour modelling on the back of their BB appearance.

One such lovely was Irish starlet Orlaith McAllister, 36, who went on to pose for our sister publication Sunday Sport – even lifting the lid on her love of kinky BUM FUN during one X-rated interview.

The most recent bout of BB boobage came last year when pin-up Biannca Lake, 32, left housemates gasping when she repeatedly stripped off to air her all-natural 32D curves.

Steamy

Biannca, from Colchester, Essex, even aired her MIMSY while giving co-star Helen Wood a steamy LAP DANCE.

One Big Brother lover told us: "We don't want to watch arguments about bog roll or people whistling while washing up, we want to see boobs, arse and minge – and plenty of it!"

Benefits St takes big viewing hit

THE new series of Benefits Street has seen a massive drop in viewing figures.

The opening episode of the second series of the Channel 4 show, featuring resident Julie Young (above), attracted almost three million viewers – down 1.3m on last year's first instalment.

Monday night's episode featured residents getting to grips with the media interest in their street.

The goings-on in Kingston Road, Stockton-on-Tees, beat New Tricks on BBC1, which attracted 2.2m viewers, but lost out to ITV drama Safe House, watched by 4.8m.

Channel 4 claimed their figures were 75 per cent above the slot average and that it was the most popular programme in the slot for 16 to 34-year-olds.

And the channel's head of documentaries, Nick Mirsky, isn't ruling out a third series.

He said: "The gap between rich and poor and the subject of welfare and benefits is an important one."

"We will keep looking at that and finding ways of telling stories."

The women – posing as lonely young girls or bored housewives – also use alluring photos of themselves until a man takes the bait.

The chat soon turns to sex and they persuade the excited men to strip in front of a webcam and commit lewd acts online.

A detective said: "It's not long before the men are contacted online by someone abroad who claims to have recordings or images which they threaten to post on the man's social media accounts, such as Facebook, if he doesn't pay money."

Ronson gets in on the great V party

MARK Ronson is the latest act to be added to the star-studded 2015 V Festival line-up.

Roy Stride, lead singer of Scouting for Girls, said: "We've always loved V. It's always been the best crowd of the summer for us."

"It's one of those festivals where people go to just have a real party."

Recalling some of their wilder moments at the festival, Stride said: "One time we bumped into some people running some sort of charity and we ended up swapping a lot of our clothing and signing it in exchange for a case of beer."

"I think we got back to the tour bus in just our boxer shorts and they auctioned off our clothes for charity."

Other names on the bill so far include Calvin Harris, Sam Smith, George Ezra and Ellie Goulding.

A DOG owner is facing jail after he admitted failing to control a bull terrier which injured two Morris dancers while biting at their bells and ribbons.

Matthew Spooner's dog, named Mia, also sank its teeth into the ankles of two women dancing at a festival.

Walsall Magistrates' Court was told that one victim needed three stitches to treat her injury, while another suffered a bruise and two puncture wounds.

Spooner pleaded guilty to two counts of being in charge of a dog dangerously out of control and faces a possible jail term when he's sentenced on June 3.

The unemployed 35-year-old, of Burrows Street, Walsall, says he gave the dog away to a traveller in Walsall's Arboretum after it attacked the dancers on April 24.

BLUE HUNK'S BABES...TOPLESS WEBBE'S WUMBAS!

LOOKS like singer Simon Webbe won't have BLUE balls for much longer!

Because the Strictly Come Dancing star has shackled up with stunning glamour model Jess Impiazzi.

The 37-year-old was recently snapped with Ex On The Beach star Jess, 25, at a WWE wrestling event in London. But while Jess's whopping 34E curves would be enough for most blokes, Simon has enjoyed LOTS of topless conquests!

Back in 2007, Simon "pulled" Big Brother star Imogen Thomas, 32, at the Embassy nightclub in Dubai.

A source claimed that Imogen, a former Welsh beauty queen, invited lucky Simon back to her hotel room for a "private party".

Steamy

He also romped with kiss-and-tell girl Cassie Sumner, 31, at his birthday party in 2005.

But perhaps Simon's most BUSTY ex-girlfriend is Worcester glamour model Natalie Denning, 32.

They enjoyed a steamy fling back in 2004 at the height of Blue's chart fame.

And recently, the singer was spotted KISSING soap star Roxanne Pallett, 32, at a posh bar in Manchester.

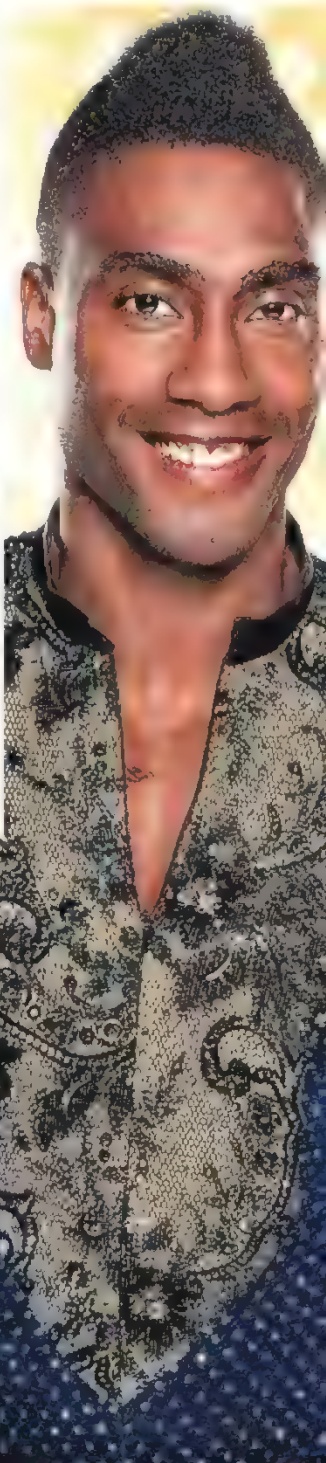

He no doubt remembers Roxanne's amazing MINGE FLASH in made-for-TV horror flick Lake Placid 3, released in 2010.

A showbiz source told Midweek Sport: "Simon has always been popular with the ladies. He benefits from being good looking and talented, so it's no surprise he gets plenty of female attention.

"But now he apparently wants to settle down, so let's hope that Jess is the right girl for him."

Tranny in a flap over changing room row

A FUMING transgender woman has elated high street shopping giant Primark after staff refused to let her use the female changing rooms. Joni Bendall (above) stormed out of the store in Ipswich after her persistent pleas to be allowed to use the fitting rooms of her choice fell on deaf ears. A close friend of the 26-year-old, Rosetta Baker, has now sent a stinging letter to Primark boss Paul Marchant.

She told the CEO that his company's brand, marketed at a "young, culturally diverse demographic", was instead "narrow-minded, intolerant and prejudiced" at the Ipswich store.

Miss Bendall, who was born a man, was in the store on April 30 when she took two items to the female changing room.

She claims she was told by the assistant that the men's changing rooms were upstairs.

Miss Bendall said: "I paused to take a breath and said, 'I'm not a man' - but the assistant turned around and kept folding clothes."

A spokesman for Primark claimed it was its policy to allow all transgender customers to use the fitting rooms of their choice in its stores.

Cleaned-up housing estate in running to win Turner Prize

A RED-BRICK terraced housing estate in inner-city Liverpool has been shortlisted for this year's Turner Prize.

The famous art prize, now in its 31st year, has a reputation for controversy - with previous winners including Martin Creed's light going on and off and Grayson Perry's pots tackling subjects like death and child abuse.

Now the work by a London-based collective, Assemble, to transform the run-down Toxteth estate - Granby Four Streets - is in the running for the annual award.

The houses, built around 1900, fell into disrepair after the local council snapped up many of the properties following the Toxteth riots in 1981.

Residents fought plans for demolition and battled to make the area "a place people actually want to live in".

This involved cleaning and planting streets, painting empty houses and setting up a monthly market.

BREAST OFFER: Emilia

By NEIL GOODWIN neil@sundaysport.co.uk

SAUCY Game of Thrones beauty Emilia Clarke has revealed her THREESOME offer to Hollywood heartthrob Channing Tatum.

The stunning actress - who plays 'Dragon Queen' Daenerys Targaryen in the medieval epic - propositioned Channing and his mouth-watering missus Jenna Dewan-Tatum at a showbiz event.

Cheeky Emilia suggested they needed to do "something sexual" when the couple admitted they were huge fans.

Last night, she revealed: "I was at a Golden Globes after party and Channing f**king Tatum came up to me, and his stunning missus, Jenna Dewan."

"And they said, 'We call each other 'moon of my life' and 'my sun and stars' and all that."

"And I was like, 'I cannot contain this. Please, can we all have something sexual together? You're both beautiful, even just a hug.'"

Nude

Later, she revealed mischievous co-star Iain Glen - who plays her advisor Ser Jorah Mormont - praised her BOOBS during a nude scene!

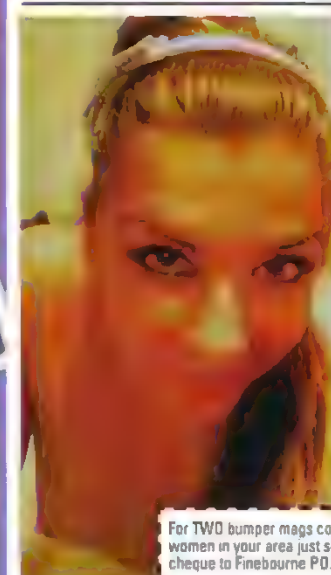

She said: "The crew was a few cliffs over, so it's me, four or five extras, and Iain Glen."

"Iain does this thing where he lifts his head up and his face goes, 'Ahh, naked lady.'"

"But because they were filming so far away, what he said was, 'Great tits, love'."

SHE'S BRITAIN'S ONLY TOPLESS COLUMNIST

● NHS boob job scrounger Josie Cunningham likes group sex, according to claims by her ex-boyfriend. Apparently, she wanted a THREESOME with two blokes, but her fella said 'no'. My first thought when I read this was... 'Good for you, girl!' There's nothing wrong with a kinky threesome. It can be a great way to spice things up! But that ex of hers, bodybuilder Andrew Goy, is a disgrace – a steroid-addicted wife beater with dodgy tattoos. And now he's selling stories about her to newspapers! Not exactly a keeper, is he? She needs to be more careful about who she gets involved with in future.

STUNNING: Lucy in a bikini and (far right) with her fella Louis

● THERE was one other thing that caught my attention at the BAFTA Television Awards... Lucy Mecklenburgh! The ex-TOWIE babe looked gorgeous on the red carpet in her elegant dress. But I would definitely prefer her in swimwear! And her boyfriend, Olympic gymnast Louis Smith, didn't look half bad either!

Might as well give Ant 'n Dec next year's BAFTA now!

NO COMPETITION: Sat Takeaway lads

HOW come Ant and Dec always bloody win a BAFTA? Sorry, but it's just so frustrating. Ant and Dec's Saturday Night Takeaway won in the category of Best Entertainment programme, and then they won AGAIN for Best Entertainment Performance. Success It's the second year in a row the lads picked up two awards – and they'll probably do the same next year. And the year after that...yawn. They are both truly great presenters and entertainers, but their success is a real sign of the times. The light entertainment industry is in a really, really, bad way. There's just no competition for the pair of them. Back when I was younger, there were LOTS of great, family-friendly TV shows. It was a tradition to stay in on a Saturday and watch the telly with your nearest and dearest. The BBC need to get their Saturday night act together. I pay my bloody licence fee, and I expect some top quality family entertainment in return – so they give the two lads a run for their money! Let's face it – Pointless Celebrities and Dale Winton ain't the answer!

SO, the election is over. The dust has settled. Personally, I'm happy that the Conservatives won – even though I'm a UKIP voter. Cameron still has a lot to sort out in this country after the f**king mess Labour left behind. My late mum always voted Tory, so that's another reason why I'm feeling confident about the result. I've always liked David Cameron – he's a smart guy and says the right things. As for Labour, they're dead and buried after the SNP landslide north of the border showed the Scottish people have completely lost faith in them. And without that support, Labour will NEVER win another election. And that's a fact.

● IT'S my favourite time of the year again – Big Brother is BACK! Now, as you all know I prefer Celebrity Big Brother, but the line-up for this series looks FANTASTIC. One of the contestants, Eileen Daly (below), claims to have been a kinky VAMPIRE porn star! Great! The 'wild ones' always end up doing well and she's already looking like my favourite. Helen Wood, the former hooker who had a threesome with Wayne Rooney, won last year and Geordie Shore star Charlotte Crosby was a blast on the celeb version. These are real people who aren't ashamed of their sexuality. And I respect that.

Ayr you go, fellas!

PLAYBOY model Emma Glover is leaving NOTHING to the imagination as she shows off Ayr United's new kit for next season.

The 27-year-old beauty got covered in BODY PAINT matching the design for the club's 2015-16 home colours.

And she celebrated the launch of the new strip... by stripping off for a TOPLESS photoshoot!

Emma, who boasts whoppin' 30G boobs, is the latest glamour model to get "brushed up" for the Scottish League One team.

Last year, gambling company and kit sponsor Bodog recruited busty model Ellis Cooper, 23, to help promote their kit launch.

Meanwhile, Ayr United are currently looking forward to success with new manager Ian McCall, 50, following a disappointing last season. And this never-before-seen

By JOSEPH SCRIMSHIRE
joseph@sundaysport.co.uk

purple shirt will no doubt help spur the "Honest Men" on to the championship.

McCall said: "Next year we should be aiming to win the League One title. That is something a club like Ayr United should be challenging for.

"We have a good squad and will be keeping some players.

"In my view, Robbie Crawford and Alan Forrest are the two best young players not only in this league but in Scotland."

GLASTO GIG FOR STEPHEN HAWKING

HE has already appeared alongside The Simpsons and Monty Python – but now Professor Stephen Hawking is taking on GLASTONBURY.

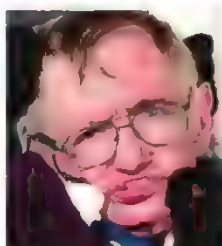

The world-famous scientist, whose life story was last year turned into Oscar-winning film The Theory of Everything, will appear at the festival's Kidz Field this summer.

A message on the festival's website said the 73-year-old boffin would make "a special guest appearance".

Other acts at the area – aimed at children aged 12 and under – include top British magician Dynamo.

Veteran rockers The Who were named last week as the headline act for the final night.

And other big name acts confirmed for this year's event – which runs from June 24-28 at Worthy Farm, Somerset – include chart-toppers Pharrell Williams, Florence and the Machine and DJ Mark Ronson.

The 23-year-old model loves SHAGGING in the back of her car.

And Summer, from Horsham, West Sussex, reckons it's the most FILTHY place she's ever done it!

The 32E beauty revealed: "I have had sex in a few strange places - my car being one.

By WENDY THOMAS
news@sundaysport.co.uk

"I used to hook up with an ex-boyfriend in a car park near where I worked.

"I really enjoyed the thrill of public sex and feeling like you're being naughty!"

"That's the appeal, I reckon - not actually getting frisky in a car, which isn't very comfy!"

CBB Court: My XXX sex tape's not for sale!

CELEBRITY Big Bro babe Courtney Stodden is FURIOUS her sex tape has been NICKED!

The 20-year-old recently filmed an X-rated video, which has been leaked to porn company Vivid Entertainment.

And following a bidding war between several adult film producers, the U.S. reality star now wants her tape BACK!

Courtney's lawyers have sent a letter to Vivid boss, David Hirsch, claiming they would take legal action if the explicit film was ever released.

She said: "I want my tape back and Mr Hirsch needs to respond to my attorney's letter and return it immediately."

"My private video is NOT for sale. I don't need the million dollars."

But 'sex tape broker' Kevin Blatt reckons that Courtney "signed a deal with Vivid long ago" and is just looking for publicity.

He added: "It's bullshit. She's trying to get headlines right now."

By NEIL GOODWIN neil@sundaysport.co.uk

MOVIE babe Reese Witherspoon admits she envies Jennifer Garner after seeing her husband Ben Affleck's COCK.

Reese, who produced his recent flick Gone Girl, said the horny shower scene where he bares all with Brit Rosamund Pike was "great".

And she congratulated Ben's missus on his "amazing" manhood!

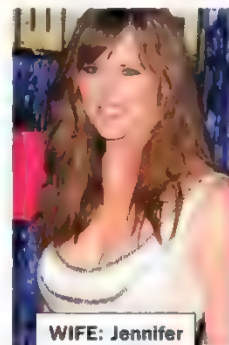

Reese, 41, said: "That scene went so fast that I didn't see it!"

But she added: "I wasn't complaining. I thought it was great. It's amazing. Congratulations, Jen Garner!"

Mum-of-three Jennifer, 43, has said she had no problem with Ben, 42, stripping off in front of the camera.

She admitted: "It wasn't a discussion, it was like, 'Hey, at work today the director talked me into coming out of the shower'."

"And I was like, 'Oh, cool, well, I hope he had on a wide lens'."

Richard: My porn secret is out!

EASTENDERS star Richard Blackwood has blurted out his love of hardcore PORN!

The outburst won't go down well with his BBC employers, but Richard says watching grot is his guilty little secret.

As is putting his hand down his pants, much to his girlfriend's annoyance!

The 42-year-old, who plays mysterious Walford newcomer Vincent Hubbard, revealed: "One thing I've never admitted to anyone is that I used to watch porn."

"I guess the secret is out in the open now!"

"And my worst habit is sitting with my hands down my trousers."

"Girlfriends tell me off, but it's just a comfort thing."

It's not the first time Richard has been involved with X-rated scenes.

He once got an ENEMA on telly for Channel Five's 2003 show Celebrity Detox Camp.

The amazing scene involved him being filmed pumping 18 litres of coffee solution through his anus into his stomach.

Country music show Hayden topless

By NEIL GOODWIN
neil@sundaysport.co.uk

YOU'LL be strumming on your banjo string when you clap-eyes on country music TV beauty Hayden Panettiere's cowbells!

The slinky blonde plays warbler Juliette Barnes in E4 drama Nashville, which has just kicked off for a third series.

Her character is currently down in the dumps - having been dumped by hunky guitarist Avery Barkley, played by actor Jonathan Jackson.

But most red-blooded males would be happy to take over where he left off.

Especially when you see Hayden, 25, airing her pert side-boob in 2008 movie I Love You, Beth Cooper.

American pin-up Hayden shot to fame in sci-fi series Heroes, playing a cheerleader who couldn't be killed because of her super powers.

Ooh, Riley!

BRIT actor Tom Hardy might have got his arse kicked by Batman as baddie Bane in The Dark Knight Rises, but you can't knock his stunning WIFE!

Lucky Tom is married to actress Charlotte Riley, 33, who is currently back on our screens in drama The Town, which is being repeated by ITV Encore.

The three-part drama focuses on 30-year-old Mark Nicholas, played by Andrew Scott, who returns home to the market town he left 10 years before, following a family tragedy.

It's there he reconnects with his former lover Alice, played by Riley.

And who can blame him - looking at this pic of her pert bare boobs, as seen in Sky 1 series The Take.

Lennon's wee drink revenge
on lusty star!
LEGENDARY Beatle John Lennon pissed into a cocktail then watched sex symbol Jayne Mansfield DRINK it.

The Scouse musician was apparently upset that the Yank actress was trying to seduce him, a new book claims.

John was living in a rented mansion in Los Angeles in the mid-60s when the busty blonde started stroking his hair.

And he got revenge by URINATING in her cocktail and watching her drink it – before she declared it “a real humdinger!”

 Chris Hutchins, author of the book The Beatles: Messages from John, Paul, George and Ringo, wrote: “As much as he loved women, John hated the way The Beatles were treated as novelties, rather than real people.

“He couldn’t bear to be touched by uninvited strangers.

“This prompted him to take a horrible revenge upon Mansfield, secretly peeing into her cocktail and watching with delight as she drank it.”

John later told her in a nightclub what had been in the drink – and had to make a quick exit after she tried to ATTACK him.

PREMIER FOOTIE ACE 'BASEBALL BAT FURY AT PARTY'

 caption in here

A FOOTBALLER battered a man with a baseball bat after a fight broke out at a party, a court heard.

Declan Gallagher, 24, a defender with SPFL championship club Livingston, is alleged to have assaulted Steven Findlay at the Parkville Hotel in Blantyre, Lanarkshire.

Kicked

It is alleged that he and Anthony Murray, 29, repeatedly punched and kicked Mr Findlay in the head and body, knocked him to the ground and struck him on the head with a baseball bat on April 21, 2013.

Both men deny assaulting Mr Findlay to the danger of his life, while acting with others.

A further charge alleges Murray, of Blantyre, also attacked Mr Findlay's girlfriend, Marie Dockery.

Victim's head was lying wide open, court is told

By DAVID MEIKLE

news@sundaysport.co.uk

A jury at Hamilton Sheriff Court heard Miss Dockery claim she had been outside the venue when both men attacked her partner following an earlier incident that left her injured.

She said: “I then saw Anthony again when he came at Steven with a baseball bat later on.

“We were together outside waiting for a taxi and I was on my mobile phone.

“He walked past me and then doubled back and flew with the bat.

“I only saw him immediately before it happened, he had come from the front of the hotel.

“There were two big blows with the bat – the first one was from Declan Gallagher and the other from Anthony.

“But it is hard to know who did what first – it was so fast.

“He went down so quickly and he tried to get up but only got half way and there was another blow straight down on him.

“His head was lying wide open and there was blood everywhere.

“Our lives were devastated that night and our lives are still devastated by it and we will never forget who did it.

Split

“I thought I was going to lose my partner, I thought he might die. His head was split from end to end when he got hit.

“Declan Gallagher had one of the baseball bats. I saw him attack, he wasn't just standing by, watching it.”

Gallagher, of Dundee, a former Celtic youth team player, signed for Dundee from Clyde before joining Livingston last summer.

The trial continues.

DARBY

LATE-night telly host Georgie Darby is well known for her filthy sex talk.

But it's her off-camera antics that really drive blokes wild!

The busty 32E babe has revealed her most intimate sex secrets - including the best way to give her a mind-blowing ORGASM.

Climax

And you'll never guess what it is... sucking on her perky NIPPLES!

Georgie, 25, from Guildford, Surrey, said: "I really, really love my boobs. And I think my nipples are probably the best part.

"They're just the right size and I love how pink they are.

"They go an even deeper shade of pink when I'm getting really turned on, too.

"And they are so incredibly super-sensitive.

"If a man plays with them the right way I can climax from that alone!"

Brits love to WHIP out their sex toys!

By WENDY THOMAS
news@sundaysport.co.uk

BRITISH sex lives are more KINKY than ever, according to a new survey.

A shock poll reveals that 46 per cent of couples have gone DOGGING, and nearly a quarter have had sex on the BEACH.

And one in five people admit to shagging on their PARENTS' BED!

But it's not just risky sex that's getting pulses racing – because almost one in three couples are using VIBRATORS.

A whopping 39 per cent enjoy kinky roleplay activity – everything from WHIPS and BLINDFOLDS to HANDCUFFS.

And more than 20 per cent confess to watching hardcore PORN to get in the mood.

The YouGov survey shows that us Brits are "becoming more adventurous", according to Susan Quilliam, who is an expert on relationships.

Susan said: "We might be busier than ever before, but this survey shows how much Britain still loves sex."

Sex therapist Emiliana Silvestri added: "People should be able to try anything sexually if they want to."

"Sex is a very important part of a relationship because touch is vital to keeping happy and feeling loved."

"The key is finding a balance so that both partners are fulfilled."

Car park

And topless stunna Polly Preston, from Plymouth, says this survey makes her PROUD to be British.

The 23-year-old student admits she loves getting FRISKY with her fiancé – and they often have sex in public places.

Polly, an impressive 34C, told Midweek Sport: "The results of this poll are just brilliant. They make me proud to be British!"

"It's great to see so many couples being adventurous in the bedroom. It's an important way to keep a relationship healthy."

"I've always had a really high sex drive, so me and my fella are often looking for ways to explore our sexuality."

"We've done it on the beach, in a public swimming pool – even in a car park while other couples watched!"

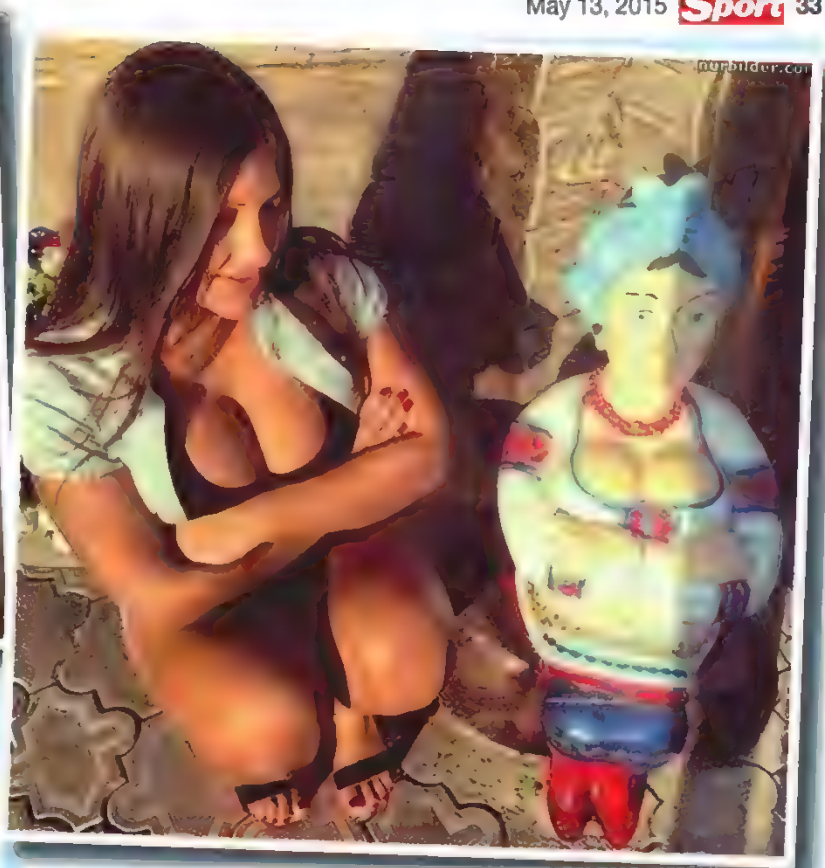

"I also have a collection of kinky sex toys under my bed, including a butt plug which I like to use during sex. It's such a great feeling."

"Strangely, we don't often watch porn together – although we have filmed a homemade SEX TAPE, which I really enjoy!"

I'd NEVER turn sex – I absolute

By NEIL GOODWIN
ne@sundaysport.co.uk

STUNNING pin-up Penny Lee today blurts out her X-rated THREESOME LUST.

The all-natural 32E lovely is a self-confessed NYMPHOMANIAC who says she just cannot get enough sex!
And the 23-year-old admits it's her ambition to have a rampant three-way with two lucky men.
The brunette, from Worthing, West Sussex, revealed: "I've never had a threesome, but I'd absolutely LOVE to give it a try."

Wicked

"I know that some girls like the idea of having a menage-a-trois with a guy and a girl – but for me it just has to be with two men.
"It might sound a bit selfish, but if there were two guys involved, everything would be focused on me and I wouldn't be competing for male attention with another woman. They would both be looking at my body while taking it in turns to have their

French au pair did me ferry good turn

Dear Kyla,

A FEW weeks ago I booked a day-trip to France by coach and ferry to stock up on cheap booze and fags.

Just as the coach was about to set off, a gorgeous blonde rushed on and plonked herself on the seat next to me.

I found it very hard to take my eyes off her and we soon started chatting.

It turned out that she was a French girl working in England as an au pair.

She explained that she was just nipping across the Channel to stock up on her favourite foods and toiletries that she couldn't get hold of in our country.

I gazed at her gorgeous cleavage in her low-cut top and it was impossible to stop my weapon standing to attention.

I tried to hide the bulge under my copy of the Daily Sport, but she obviously realised because she slid her hand under the paper and grabbed my crotch.

I let out a gasp as I felt her fingers unzipping my flies and wrapping around my shaft.

Vigorous

Slowly she began to wank me off as the bus sped along the M2 towards Dover.

I'd almost reached the point of no return as the bus pulled into the ferry terminal, but she pulled her hand away and whispered that I would have to wait.

Once we got on the boat we managed to find a secluded corner on the car deck behind a big lorry and she sucked me off for a while.

Then I gave her a vigorous knee-trembler behind a lorry.

All too soon the ferry reached Calais, but I was looking forward to spending the day with this beauty.

But as we cleared the arrivals hall, a brawny Frenchman suddenly snatched her into his arms and began snogging her passionately.

Then the two of them walked out arm-in-arm and the horny hussy didn't even give me a farewell wave.

Do you think I got a raw deal?

RD, Bucks

Kyla says...

STOP your moaning. You got a whole lot more than you bargained for!

Letter of the day

Dear Kyla,

MY mate and I went to a wedding last week. Two nights earlier, the two of us had been shagging the bride silly.

We met her in a club and she was having a wild time with a group of girls who were all flashing their tits.

We went back to her house and it wasn't long before the bride-to-be had stripped off and was stroking her nipples.

She pulled out my rock-hard cock and began to rub it.

My pal slipped in behind her and gave it to her doggy-style while she gave me a fantastic blowjob.

Then it was my turn to f**k her while she gorged herself on my mate's dick.

Talk about here comes the bride! I've never seen anyone in such a f**k frenzy.

I hope for his sake that her hubby has got plenty of stamina.

What do you think?

DM, Wilts

Kyla says...

HE'S probably a stretcher case by now.

Dear Kyla,

I AM a salesman aged 26 and my boss is a blonde of 40 with big boobs, trim figure and horny-looking.

We went on a business trip and one night she invited me back to her room.

She went to the bathroom and returned wearing a black silk dressing gown. Then she took it off to reveal black stockings and suspenders - and her naked 38D tits.

Before I could say anything she started kissing me and taking my shirt off. Then she unzipped my flies and started to suck my knob.

After a while we got on the bed. She then got on top, eased my tool into her and rode me to a climax.

The next day she warned me it was a one-off and if I mentioned it at work I would be fired.

What should I do?

DG, Cornwall

Kyla says...

KEEP your mouth shut.

Dear Kyla,

I'M a bloke and I have been a ladies' hairdresser since I left school.

Recently, I launched a mobile service and about a month ago I went to a house for an appointment with a woman who was absolutely stunning.

As I was cutting her hair I accidentally brushed my groin against her and she smiled as she felt the stiffy I was sporting.

And she continued to smile as she started to rub my hard cock and then slowly unzipped my trousers.

It was my turn to smile as she took my eight-incher into her mouth and slurped on my manhood.

Then we moved upstairs and f**ked each other senseless for the next three hours.

Now she's a regular weekend customer and I'm wondering if I should start charging her for my extra services.

SL, Hampshire

Kyla says...

NO. Just accept it as a perk of the job.

Lesbo romp revenge!

Dear Kyla,

I'M a 30-year-old housewife and a couple of weeks ago I was seduced by an older woman.

My husband, who's a builder, was away when a woman in her 40s came knocking on the door.

I asked her in, wondering if she was upset with some work my husband had done. But she confessed they had been having an affair for two years.

I burst into tears and we fell into each other's arms for comfort. Then she kissed me on the lips, saying she knew a great way to get even with him.

She started to flick her tongue in and out of my mouth and I gave in to her as she slipped my bra over my shoulders and began licking my nipples.

I moaned with delight as she massaged my clitoris before going down on me and bringing me to several shuddering climaxes.

I found it exciting to lap at her pussy, especially when she screamed out in orgasm.

She's now dumped my husband, but I'm still seeing her.

TR, west Sussex

Kyla says...

MAYBE you should dump him too.

SHOW ME THE HONEY!

WELCOME to Interactive Midweek Sport – where YOU get to choose the stunnas appearing on these pages!

That's right fellas, we publish sexy snaps of the babes you most want to see – TOPLESS or even NAKED.

Every Wednesday, Show Me The Honey features the cute curves of the glamour girls you're clamouring for. This service – UNIQUE to British newspapers – is totally FREE!

All you have to do is drop us an email to request@sundaysport.co.uk telling us why you want to see your favourite girl, then sit back and let us do the rest.

NATASHA MARLEY

SELF-confessed nympho Natasha Marley, 27, is the choice of Midweek Sport reader Dan Collingwood.

The 22-year-old security guard says he enjoys reading Natasha's FILTHY sex confessions while on the night shift.

He revealed: "I'm a bit of a night owl – because of my job. It can get a bit lonely at times, especially since my missus moved back to Thailand."

"So I've kept my old copies of the paper with Natasha as the Cover Girl. I've got a whole desk drawer full of them – she's bloody glorious!"

"But it would be great to see her in the paper again... would you mind printing a cheeky snap?"

DANIELLE ANDERSON

NO prizes for guessing which gorgeous glamour girl Fred Nathan wants in his passenger seat!

Because the 46-year-old bus driver from Camden, north London, reckons his all-time favourite pin-up is the lovely Danielle Anderson!

The Hampshire honey, 25, retired from topless modelling a few years back – but she's still a readers' firm favourite!

Fred said: "Danielle is classic beauty with a whoppin' pair of 30FF boobs. They don't make 'em like they used to!"

ANGELICA BREXNER

LIVERPOOL factory worker Tom Payne, 35, loves ogling Angelica Brexner's bra-bustin' BOOBS!

And he reckons the 24-year-old is one of the fittest models EVER to have appeared in Britain's BREAST newspaper!

Tom, 31, said: "Angelica is just stunning. Could you please publish her in your latest issue? Please?!"

"I love girls with really big, round breasts... so Angelica is my perfect woman!"

Karen Briggs says...

I'M one of the lucky girls that gets to experience my fave sexual fantasy every week!

I've always wanted to surprise a bloke with a saucy striptease, and finally got the chance last month.

I travelled down to London to visit my long-distance boyfriend and made sure to wear really sexy knickers.

I gave him a really horny lap dance and he could barely keep his hands off me!

Then I stripped completely naked and gave him a slippery blowjob, then we had amazing sex.

Now he's ALWAYS happy to see me!

WANNA SE LOVE LIFE, DREAM

FANCY spicing up your sex life, fellas?

Well, you're not the only one. A shock new poll reveals the majority of Brits have experimented with a KINKY fantasy.

The UK's biggest online adult shop, Lovehoney, asked 1,300 adults about their sex lives.

According to the survey, 81 percent of women and 77% of men admit they have lived out their "favourite sexual fantasy".

And over three-quarters of couples have been inspired by a raunchy scene from TV or a movie.

Kinky

A whopping 75% of women also admit to trying out a fantasy they discovered in a book.

The poll also reveals Britain's most TABOO desires – including bondage, public romps and making a FILTHY sex tape!

And the results show that more than half of couples enjoy kinky roleplay while 25% want to join the mile-high club.

And over a THIRD of women admit to fantasising about their friend's lover.

Overall, a staggering 97% of Brits reckon fantasies can "enhance sexual happiness".

The survey, a partnership with sex comedy A Funny Kind of Love, proves that fetishes are still an important part of relationships.

Lovehoney co-owner Richard Longhurst said: "It's great news that so many people are turning their sexual fantasies into reality."

"Lots of couples are enjoying erotic scenes in books or films and then re-enacting them at home in the bedroom."

"Obviously many of us are a little embarrassed about our sexual fantasies, but it is great that we are still sharing them with partners."

We asked Midweek Sport stunnas Karen Briggs, 24, Lisa Duffy, 21, and Aimee Harris, 20, all about their most FILTHY sex fantasies.

Lisa Duffy says...

I'M a bit of a porn addict, so I think I'd like to watch a "real life" sex show! Firstly, I would give my boyfriend permission to have sex with another girl in our apartment – I don't think he'd complain!

And I would be hiding in the cupboard watching them get frisky. I think that would be so naughty!

I'm not ashamed to admit I'm a voyeur – and it would really turn me on watching my bloke pleasure another woman to completion.

Maybe if he's lucky I could pop out of my hiding place and join in the fun to make it a dirty THREESOME!

K UP YOUR FELLAS? ON!

Aimee Harris
says...

BACK when I was in college, I had a fling with my really sexy geography tutor. Lots of women fantasise about a hot older bloke, so I count myself pretty lucky! I've always wanted to capture the excitement of that affair, so I recently joined a married dating site.

I started speaking to this guy and he was gorgeous. Unfortunately, his wife didn't have a high sex drive so he was frustrated. So I asked him to take out his frustrations on me! We met at a hotel after work and had the most incredible sex. Now we meet once a month!

OUR SPORTS BETTING GURU WILL PUT YOU ON A WINNER!

We're Astaire crazy!

ASTAIRE:
York hope

THEY call York racecourse 'the Ascot of the North' but they tell fibs.

Ascot is the 'York of the South'.

The champs is 10-times cheaper, the course is a truer track, the racing is on a par.

And York is prettier. The May meeting and the Ebor festival are both utterly brilliant and today we have two cracking races.

The Duke Of York Stakes and the Musidora Stakes.

Channel Four screen both and the Duke Of York (3.15) has thrown up some great horses in the past.

Record

It is a Group 2 which was won in 2013 by James Fanshawe's Society Rock who went on to land SEVEN Group 1 races in a row.

Prime Defender, who won in 2010 for Barry Hills holds the sprint speed record at three different courses.

And last year's winner Maarek went on to pick up in the place money in four group races.

But what of today's cast? Astaire was second 12 months ago and could dance rings round most sprinters.

HE CAN DANCE OFF WITH YORK PRIZE

But if you study the official ratings there is only 1lb between him, the unbeaten Lightning Moon, Naadirr (who won here in September last year) and Mattmu, trained by Tim East.

erby who was among the winners on Monday. This should be one hell of a finish. Get the magnifying glass out.

But it's ASTAIRE for us, Ms Rodgers.

You will know the fate of your money about a furlong out.

He leads. He does not like to see another horse.

Each time he has won here (twice) he has looked like being reeled in only to quicken again.

Keep the stakes small because this is so hot but Astaire can have us singing in the rain. Or the sunshine, not checked the weather forecast to be honest.

A half-hour later we get the Musidora Stakes (3.45).

A £100,000 conditions race which has attracted the less-than-princely total of FIVE runners. For a Group 3?

You despair of owners and trainers moaning about the lack of prize-money in racing and when York sticks up 100k for a Group 3, which is well short of top class competition... what do they get? A nap-hand. Shoddy.

Aidan O'Brien sends out Together Forever and on figures the four-timer seeking filly ought to be good enough.

But the Ballydoyle genius has never won this and, be fair, he has won most things.

On the other hand John Gosden (pictured) has won it twice in the last four years and he saddles the Dubai Duty Free Stakes (Newbury) winner STAR OF SEVILLE.

There is a bit of a concern that Will Buick who rode both of Gosden's recent winners is aboard Charlie Hills' Pandora and there will be plenty who will try to open her box (sorry, again).

Oranges

But that little Italian Detor fella is a fair sub, not in the most awful form, is he?

So we will locate to the land of the oranges.

Only two have won over this distance. The selection and Pandora.

But the form of Pandora's Doncaster maiden win does not exactly poke your eye out.

So it's the Spanish lass for us.

BETS: 1pt win Astaire (3.15 York); 2pt win Star Of Seville (3.45 York) 1pt double.

REAL MADRID v JUVENTUS: WED 7.45: SKY SPORTS 1

OH Cristiano lad, get over yourself.

The pretty one Ronaldo was pretty shit when Real effectively surrendered the Spanish League to bitter rivals Barca on Saturday night with a 2-2 home draw against Valencia.

He missed a penalty, his once-flawless free-kicks drifted like the Kon-Tiki, and almost every pass — no exaggeration — went astray.

Four points behind Barcelona with only two games to go... the La Liga hopes are dead in the water. So this match tonight defines their season.

Real gaffer Carlo Ancelotti exuded confidence yesterday when he insisted his present team could overturn a 2-1 deficit against the club he used to manage. "Our reputation is on the line against Juve and the crowd will be spectacular and will be our 12th man," he said.

GOING OUT:
Ronaldo

"We put in a shift for the full 90 minutes against Valencia. We ran, fought, and if you don't put it in, it ends up taking its toll, but on Wednesday we're going to go all out. The crowd got behind us and didn't give in at any point."

Don't believe you pal. A trying Ronaldo is an asset, a sulking Ronaldo is a goal start to the opposition.

Madrid (4/6) looked a side out of unity on Saturday night. The draw is 100/30 but the bet is Juventus at a best 19/4. Their win last week was no fluke.

BET: Juventus to win (19/4, generally).

DOG LEADS

BY MICK LIVESEY

Tackle's got midas touch

TOMORROW night is an absolute cracking card at Hove featuring the semi-finals of the £10,000 to-the-winner Coral Regency and a great supporting cast.

I went for Touch Tackle at 9/2 ante-post and I'm feeling confident he will get the job done. He is a greyhound who possesses massive pace but most important of all he is tough, genuine and he's got a great desire to win.

I fear nothing in his semi-final and I fully expect him to win and line up for next week's decider live on Sky Sports at odds-on.

In the first semi-final I like the look of Droopys Flash who I thought was very impressive in the heats.

He's a dog who stays strongly and I'm expecting Claude Gardiner's charge to simply gun down these rivals close home.

On the supporting card look no further than the very first race which see's Trade Victorious go in the sprint contest.

I'm a fan of his and although turned over last week by T5 Lochys Blue Boy I'm taking him to reverse that form here.

HOVE THURSDAY BEST BETS

NAP - T1 Touch Tackle 21.06
NB - T2 Droopys Flash 20.34
TREBLE - T2 Trade Victorious 19.31

ROMFORD TONIGHT

Let's be honest Wednesday night's action of all graded races on the TV is fraught with danger, it's quite simply a bookies paradise. With that in mind I'm always wary of going to strong on something but I've tried my best to come up with a punt for you.

ROMFORD BEST BET

NAP - T2 Das Windhund 22.26

BOOOOOOM HAT-TRICK LANDED

Ballymac Godsend on Sunday night made it three winning NAPS on the bounce.

You could have got 6/4 about the headliner in the Sunday Sport and although I'm a long way of hitting the 10 on the bounce I've hit twice before I'm hoping this superb run continues.

That's what you call a kit launch!

SCOTTISH club Ayr United have the right idea about unveiling their new kit each season.

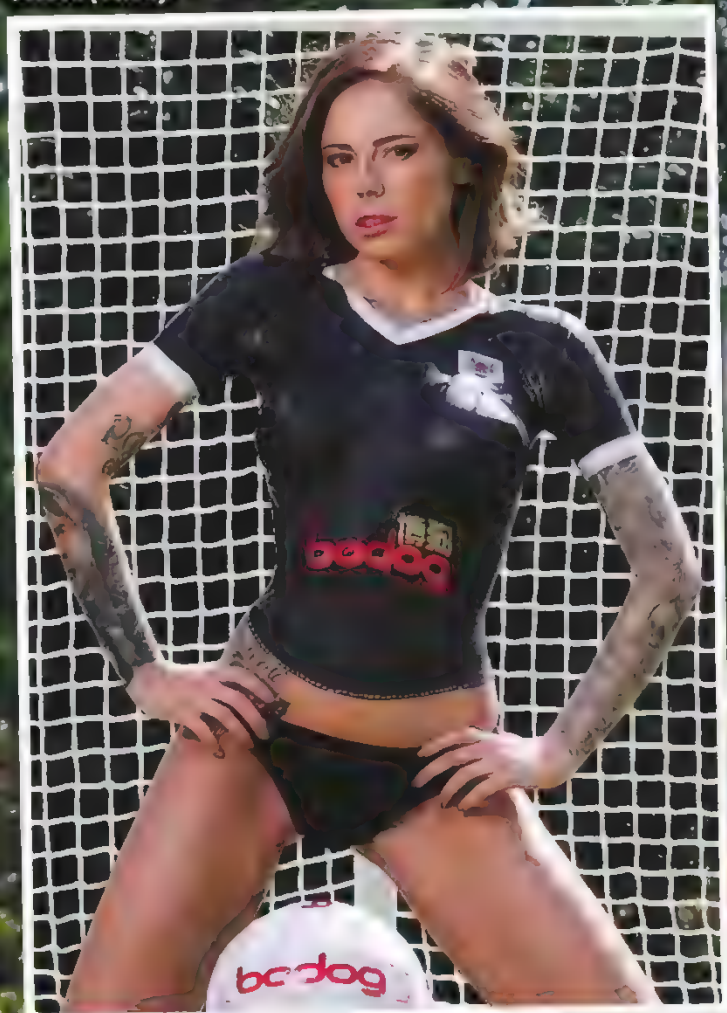

They don't bother getting a picture of the gnarly team captain with the new kit on, or some star player who'll never wear it anyway.

Instead, they team up with their sponsors Bodog to paint the new look on a stunning model.

Ayr United — they are definitely our new favourite team!

Not sure how the players get on wearing the black knickers instead of shorts mind.

And, as you can see, this year's kit (right) is very different to the one they were wearing last season (below).

INSPIRATION: Kim

No sex... but cups for Andy

TENNIS: ROME OPEN

SO Andy Murray reckons marriage to Kim Sears has made him a better player.

He's right. He's unbeaten since uttering the words "I do".

And the married (divorced) men among us know precisely why.

Poor sod is no longer getting any sex. So he can concentrate on his sport.

There's a magic ingredient that shuts a woman's legs faster than Usain Bolt. Wedding cake.

And, boy, didn't it show in the Madrid Masters on Sunday night.

He was facing Rafa Nadal who loves nothing more than a nice game of tennis on a clay court.

Yet he didn't just beat Nadal on clay, a surface he never loses on, he absolutely mullered him. Six previous meetings on the mud-like substance and it stood at 6-0 to Rafa.

Match

But then the pride of Dunblane took him to the cleaners, mercilessly. Not sure what passes for Sketchley's in Madrid but I bet there was a queue outside on Monday morning.

It was 6-3, 6-2, inside two minutes less than it takes to finish your average football match.

Yet Murray backs his foe to win the Rome Masters, the final warm-up for the next Major, the French Open at Roland Garros which runs this week.

Gracious winner Murray said: "It was my day.

"But never underestimate Rafa. He is recently back from injury and some of his shots hurt me.

"He plays the ball down the line better than anyone.

"And he is a fighter. He will be hurting but he will bounce back.

"Rome is next and he will be on the front foot to get ready for France. I'm pretty sure he will win.

"Tennis players might be rivals but they respect each other. Rafa is one of the best."

WINNER: Murray

HIGHAM STAYS AT WOLVES

RUGBY LEAGUE

WARRINGTON have turned down an audacious bid by Leigh for veteran hooker Micky Higham.

The 34-year-old hasn't missed a game for the Wolves this season but that didn't stop the ambitious Championship leaders from launching a bid.

They see Higham's experience as being crucial to their title charge.

But while Micky is keeping reigning Man Of Steel Daryl Clark out of the side, there's little chance of him leaving the Halliwell-Jones Stadium.

A Warrington Wolves said: "Warrington Wolves can confirm that the club has received a request from Leigh Centurions to sign Micky Higham with immediate effect.

"Micky is contracted at the Wolves until the end of the 2015 season and, as such the club has turned down this request from the Championship side.

"He is a key part of our first team and one of our more influential and experienced players. We believe he has a big role to play in the future success of 2015."

It would have been a homecoming for Higham, who started his career at Leigh before moving to St Helens and Wigan for good spells ahead of pitching up at Warrington seven years ago where he has been a key man in the club's successes.

Across the Pennines, Hull FC owner Adam Pearson says he's still 100% behind the club despite taking the helm at Leeds United.

He has owned Hull since 2011 but has just stepped up his role at Elland Road, where he will be executive director.

Pearson said: "I've continued to be involved with opportunities elsewhere in sport and business but that changes nothing in terms of my responsibilities and ownership at Hull FC.

"Joining the board at Leeds United is an exciting prospect and one I'm looking forward to after a number roles in football in the past.

"However, I remain totally committed to Hull FC, having made a big commitment and contribution to the club, both emotionally and financially, and look forward to seeing the club continue to grow."

DIVE IN: There are some tasty odds about Bale's next destination

Bale 6/4 for United move

THE second leg of the Champions League semi-final between Real Madrid and Juventus is evenly poised with The Old Lady taking a 2-1 lead to the Spanish capital.

Our friends at Opta tell us that 47% of the teams that win the first leg of a Champions League knock out game 2-1 at home make it through to the next round and I think the Spanish giants, with that away goal in Italy, will qualify.

BetVictor make Real 4/6 to make the final and Juve 11/10.

The holders are 13/20 to win the tie with the draw 16/5 and Juve 9/2; the Whites are likely to have Karim Benzema back as a central striker but Toni Kroos was injured in the 2-2 draw with Valencia last weekend and remains a doubt.

HE CAN FIRE REAL INTO FINAL FIRST

That draw looks to have handed the La Liga title to Barcelona and if Los Blancos don't make it to Berlin next month you would imagine that Ancelotti's time at the Bernabeu would be at an end.

Gareth Bale has taken some stick off the Madrid faithful in recent weeks but he was back to something like his best, especially in the first half, at the weekend and he is 6/1 to score first and 13/8 to find the back of the net at anytime. The latter makes appeal.

Bale is reported to have few allies at the Bernabeu, hasn't learnt the language and often casts a forlorn figure.

If you think he will leave

Madrid this summer the below market might be of interest. It's BetVictor's odds on Gareth Bale to sign before the end of the summer transfer window:

Man United	6/4
Chelsea	10/1
Bayern	20/1
Man City	20/1
PSG	25/1
Liverpool	33/1

Angel Di Maria's days look numbered at United but would Bale fit into Louis van Gaal's new regime?

★ The feature of day one of York's three day May meeting is the 6f Duke Of York Stakes and it looks a top class renewal.

MUTHMIR looks a potential sprinting star this season but he has never won first time out and just might be a bit keen this afternoon.

Whatever he does today the 20/1 for the Diamond Jubilee Stakes at Royal Ascot next month looks too big although he does need good or faster ground to be seen at his best.

LUCKY KRISTALE was given a poor ride by Tom Queally at Newmarket on reappearance and she is taken to reward each way support at 12/1 with BetVictor. The filly had a disappointing season last year when connections tried to stretch her stamina to a mile but she looked happier back sprinting at HQ and can run a big race.

PUZZLED:
Flintoff

FLINTOFF FUMES AT KP SNUB

CRICKET

ANDREW Flintoff has joined in the chorus of former players and pundits calling for the return of Kevin Pietersen to the England side.

New England cricket boss Andrew Strauss says there's no way back to the side for KP, citing "trust issues" as the reason for not picking England's best batsman.

And that doesn't wash with Flintoff, who has called on the selectors to just pick the best players available, especially with the Ashes coming up this summer.

Freddy took to Twitter to exclaim: "Wow! On one hand I respect Strauss for making a ballsy decision on Kevin Pietersen."

"However got to think he's made a very bad one. Reasons please?"

"I have no agenda in this. I thought if KP was to play again he should fight his way back in which he has."

"As for personality he can be high maintenance then again so was I but you do grow up and change."

Lame

"I wish I had the chance to play in my mid 30s. I reckon I'd have been better!"

"Like all other fans I'm intrigued to know the reasons building for the future is lame. Only then will this be put to bed."

Pietersen (below) underlined why he should be back in the England fold with a 355 not out against Leicestershire. He would have scored a lot more but he ran out of partners at the other end.

All Strauss would do when facing reporters was to confirm that Pietersen is not banned from the side. But it would probably need a run of huge defeats against New Zealand then Australia before he was brought back in what would be a massive climbdown.

Former England captain Michael Vaughan was another to give his support to KP who hasn't played a Test for 18 months.

He tweeted: "Just pick your best available players and let's stop over complicating sport... it's a game of Cricket .. Nothing more Nothing less... Disappointed."

NERVOUS: Phil

Brown trouser time at seaside

Southend (1) v Stevenage (1)

Thursday, 7.45, live on Sky Sports 5

It will be a tense affair down on the South coast tomorrow night.

The first leg of this League Two play off was tighter than a nun's knickers and ended all-square.

United finished 12 points clear of Boro in the league campaign but there was little to choose between them in a bruising encounter at Stevenage.

Barry Corr headed the equaliser that will give the Shrimpers belief that the only road out of Roots Hall leads to Wembley.

Southend boss Phil Brown is talking their chances down. He said: "There is no favourite for the second leg.

"I expect a similar game to the first leg because of the incredible commitment of both teams.

"We only lost three games out of 23 at home in the league but we aren't getting carried away. Bring it on but this remains very much in the balance."

Subbed

However, the Shrimpers could be missing Michael Timlin for the second leg after he suffered a sickening clash of heads with Bira Dembele midway through the first half.

Timlin required 25 stitches after being taken off but remarkably played with a bandaged head until half time but was subbed.

Brown added: "Micheal wants to be in the mix for Thursday but if either of those lads are involved I will be astounded.

"It showed how committed he is but, come on, 25 stitches? Anyone would be staggering around punch drunk."

Stevenage striker Chris Beardsley is up for the battle. He said: "It's the sort of occasion which motivates players.

"This is what we are in the game for.

"We are 90 minutes away from Wembley and we are going there with a job to do and win the game."

The 31-year-old missed Stevenage's 2-0 defeat at Southend in August through injury and he hopes they have left their best performance of the season until last.

He said: "I think we're a different animal from Southend on the second weekend of the season.

"We've grown as a squad, as individuals, and I'm sure it'll be a different game on Thursday night."

CHAMPS LGE: REAL MADRID v JUVENTUS

WEDNESDAY
7.45 SKYSP1

Ben's back

STRIKER ALL FIRED UP TO TAKE ON JUVENTUS

KARIM BENZEMA will be back to lead Real Madrid's misfiring front line against Juventus.

The Spanish giants go into the second leg at the Bernabeu desperate to overturn their 2-1 defeat to the Italians in Turin.

And having the French ace back in the line-up is a major boost.

He was not available for the first leg with an injury but he's been back in full training and can start.

Los Merengues were given a boost with the news that midfielder Toni Kroos will also return.

The German limped out of the 2-2 league draw with Valencia at the weekend and it was thought he'd be unavailable.

But he has shrugged off

By CHRIS HANNAN

his knock to give the home team pretty much a full squad to choose from.

Only long-term crock Luka Modric will be missing so Carlo Ancelotti will be free to unleash his Bule-Benzema-Ronaldo attack on to the Italians.

And the Real coach has also moved quickly to silence rumours that Iker Casillas will be dropped with the crunch match.

The veteran goalkeeper has come in for stick from the fans that used to idolise him this season.

He was seen arguing with some of the home faithful after they booed him for one of Valencia's goals.

The boss says he doesn't have to make any tough decisions where Casillas is concerned.

He said: "There are two answers to whether Casillas plays. And they are yes and yes.

"There will be changes in other areas but we don't have a decision to make when it comes to the goalkeeper."

That view was backed up by Cesc Fabregas.

Success

The Chelsea midfielder has tasted massive success in a Spain shirt, all with Casillas as captain.

And he added: "I've defended Iker many times and deservedly so because I'm really sorry about it. If I have to I'll do it again without any problem.

"He is a great captain, a great person, a great footballer and a great friend. There isn't much else to say because you only have to look at what he has done for the national team and Real Madrid.

"You must try and stay strong, concentrate on football and do the best you can. If you analyse it at times it can be your fault, although sometimes there are other circumstances.

"I think if you're at your best then you won't get whistled at, while at other times maybe you are not at your best or the team has lost. My case is different from Iker because he has won the public over a million times.

"Things can change overnight in football and you can play in the Champions League final, save a penalty and become God again.

"One day you are very good, the next day you are very bad, but in the end it's you who needs to know who you are and how it is."

Injury

Juventus could play in-demand Paul Pogba after he returned to league action at the weekend after two months out with injury — and he scored for good measure.

He is expected to play a part in what will be a defensive line-up from the Italian champions.

Fit: Karim Benzema

ZAK TO ANSAH ARGYLE'S CALL

Wycombe (3) v Plymouth (2)

Thursday, 7.45pm, live on Sky Sports 2

FOR 86 minutes last week this tie had been killed off.

Wanderers led 3-0 and then in the last four minutes Plymouth decided it was time to wake up.

But Argyle scored twice in a dramatic finale as substitutes Zak Ansah and Jason Banton left Wycombe with work still to do if they are to meet Southend or Stevenage at Wembley.

Plymouth boss John Sheridan said: "There are 90 minutes left and we have to win. We are a goal down in a cup tie. It will be a great occasion and we have to go there and maximise it."

Sheridan has admitted he faces a tough decision over his forwards.

Reuben Reid and Lewis Alessandra have led the Pilgrims' attack for a total of 33 goals.

But Reid, top scorer on 20, has been struggling with a foot injury, which has led to him having cortisone injections to play through the pain barrier.

Reid and Alessandra returned against Wycombe but were largely ineffective, with Plymouth's leading marksman making way for Brunt in the 65th minute.

Sheridan will consider the merits of whether to play one, or both, of those crucial subs Ansah and Brunt in the crucial second leg.

He added: "Zak and Brunt did well so I have got to make a decision.

"Are they on top of their game? Are they at it? That's a decision I have got to make. And Jason Banton came on and did really well."

Wycombe boss Gareth Ainsworth hailed striker Aaron Holloway, 22, who lashed in a terrific half-volley in the first leg. "He's a great player, he's a work in progress and he's still so young," said Ainsworth.

"People look at him, see this giant guy and think 'he must be mature, he must be an adult, he must know everything about the world' he doesn't.

"We're giving him a life academy as well as a football academy and we're doing our best with him. If he keeps putting in performances like that week in, week out then he'll be a hell of an asset.

"He's got more to come, but he's showing glimpses of what he can do and, when he's on form, Aaron Holloway is a big player in our league."

NO CAP: Grealish

Grealish snub for Ireland call-up

ASTON VILLA wonderkid Jack Grealish has set his sights on playing for England — by snubbing a Republic Of Ireland call-up.

He has made a real impact at Villa Park since Tim Sherwood took over and starred in the club's FA Cup semi-final victory over Liverpool.

He was born and bred in Birmingham but has Irish parents and has already played for the boys in green at under-21 level.

But that doesn't mean he cannot play senior games for England.

Ireland boss Martin O'Neill was desperate to add the 19-year-old to his squad for the games against England and Scotland next month.

But Grealish has nailed his colours to the England flag and hopefully Roy Hodgson won't waste any time in calling him up — before he changes his mind.

A gutted O'Neill said: "I spoke to both Jack and his father, and I think Jack just didn't want to make his mind up at this stage."

"He wanted to complete the season at Aston Villa — there are some important games for them coming up — and he wants to make his decision at some time in the future."

"He has been doing very well recently and it would have been nice, but that's Jack's decision."

"I spoke to the father and said I would like to have brought him into it, but of course you don't want to force someone who might not want to make that decision just at this moment."

Cook in at Pompey

PAUL Cook is the new manager of Portsmouth.

The former Coventry and Wolves star, 48, moves to the south coast just two days after previous club Chesterfield lost in the League One play-offs.

He drops down a division to Fratton Park, saying: "I'd like to thank the staff in all departments of the club for everything they have done during my time at the club."

"Most importantly, I'd like to thank the players, who have been fantastic, both on and off the pitch. Finally, thanks to the fans for their superb support."

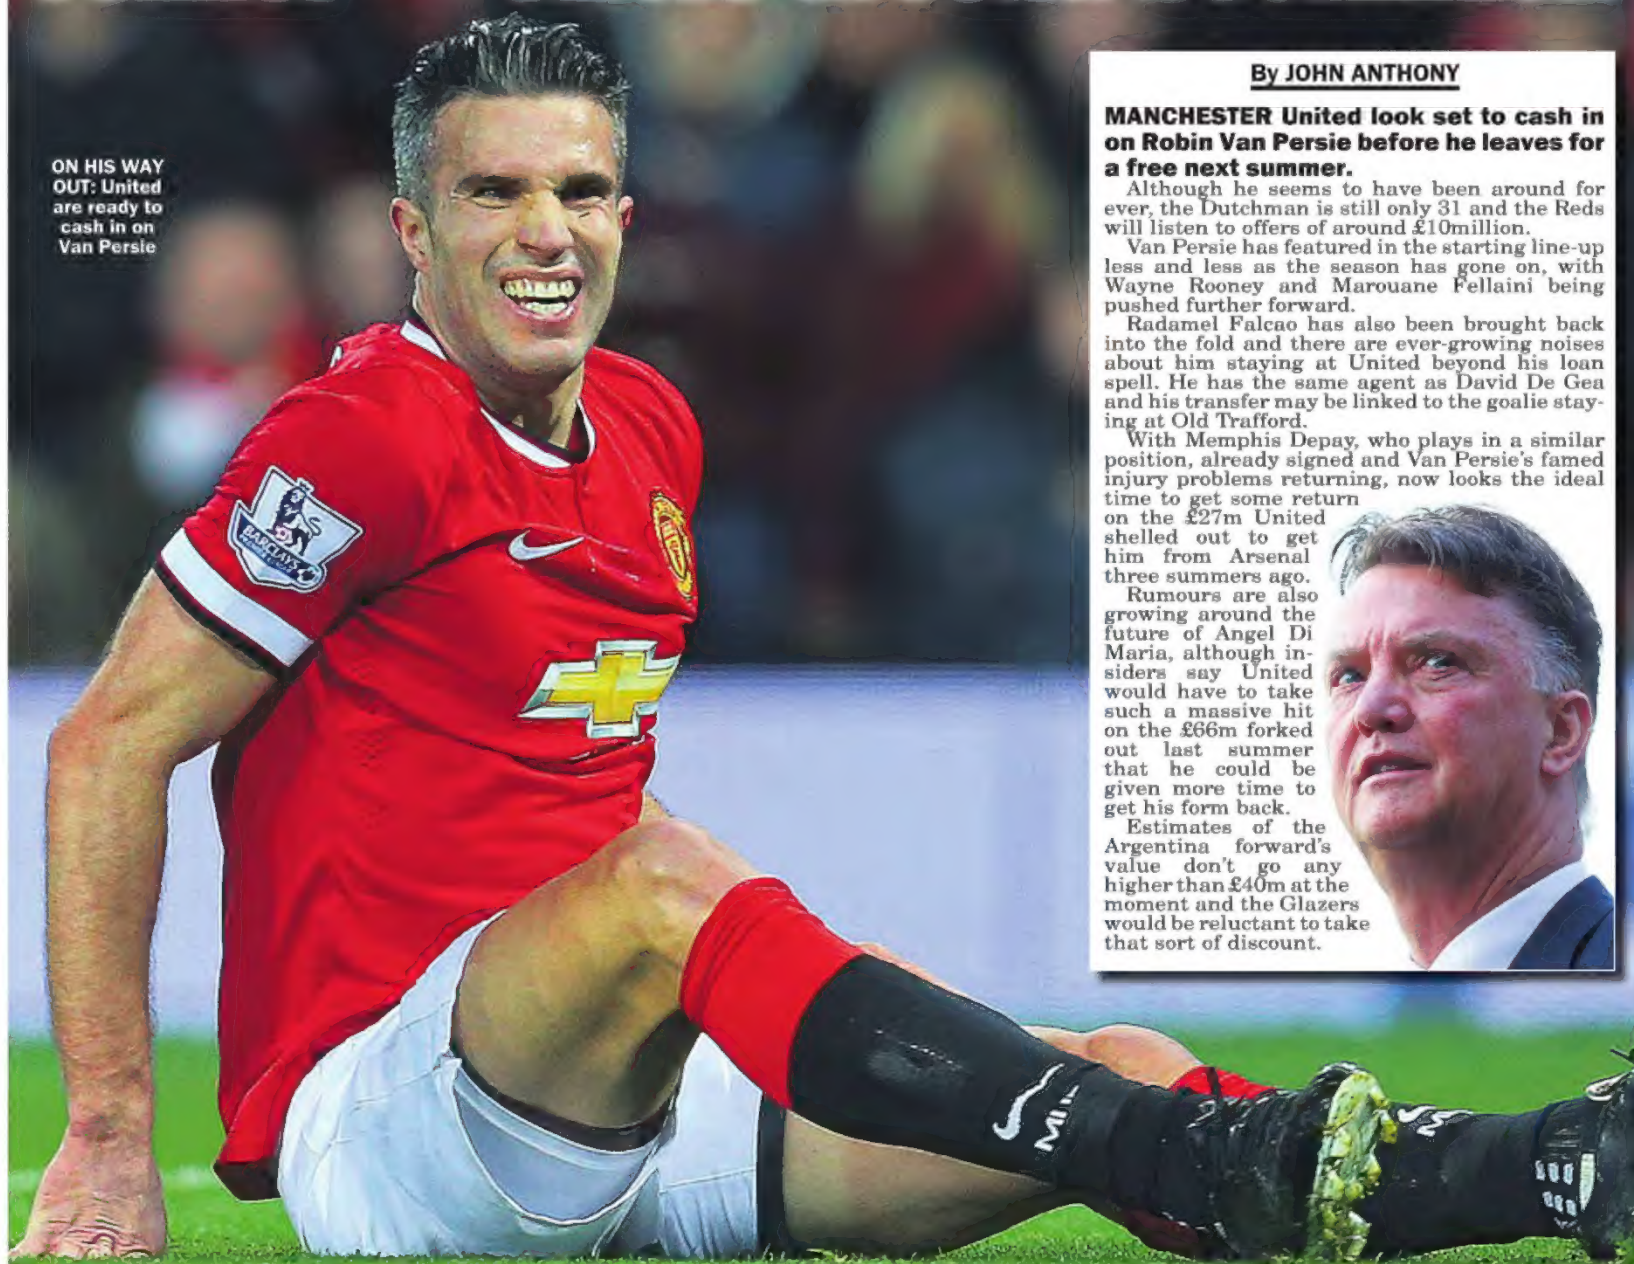

Cook takes over after Andy Awford left Pompey last month.

...bit clapped out but still a decent runner — offers around £10million

ON HIS WAY OUT: United are ready to cash in on Van Persie

By JOHN ANTHONY

MANCHESTER United look set to cash in on Robin Van Persie before he leaves for a free next summer.

Although he seems to have been around for ever, the Dutchman is still only 31 and the Reds will listen to offers of around £10million.

Van Persie has featured in the starting line-up less and less as the season has gone on, with Wayne Rooney and Marouane Fellaini being pushed further forward.

Radamel Falcao has also been brought back into the fold and there are ever-growing noises about him staying at United beyond his loan spell. He has the same agent as David De Gea and his transfer may be linked to the goalie staying at Old Trafford.

With Memphis Depay, who plays in a similar position, already signed and Van Persie's famed injury problems returning, now looks the ideal time to get some return on the £27m United shelled out to get him from Arsenal three summers ago.

Rumours are also growing around the future of Angel Di Maria, although insiders say United would have to take such a massive hit on the £66m forked out last summer that he could be given more time to get his form back.

Estimates of the Argentina forward's value don't go any higher than £40m at the moment and the Glazers would be reluctant to take that sort of discount.

CARLO'S A BALE FORCE WINDBAG

By PETE BAILEY

REAL Madrid boss Carlo Ancelotti has told Man United to forget any idea about signing Gareth Bale this summer.

Talk of the Welshman moving to Old Trafford just won't go away.

And it has gathered pace in recent weeks as Bale has been getting plenty of stick from the crowd as Real's title challenge has gone off the ball.

Gareth's agent has been crying about it, even going as far to say that his team-mates won't pass the ball to him in matches.

Those comments drew a typical shrug from Ancelotti, who said: "I spoke with Bale a lot of times. He is really happy to stay here."

"I don't understand what his agent said. It could be better to not speak."

"But we are used to it, in this world where a lot of people speak and sometimes, speak too much."

"Bale has no problem with his colleagues. His colleagues have no problem with him. They like Gareth Bale and he likes his colleagues. There is one word too many perhaps from outside."

And Madrid wheeled out

James Rodriguez to scotch any rumours of discontent at the Bernabeu.

He said of the agent's moaning: "I didn't see what was said, it's the first time I've heard it."

"We all want to play with him. Cristiano, Chicharito... we're all a team and we have to be united. You cannot speculate on what is said outside. We all have to be focused."

The white hankies were out in the stands when Real could only draw at the weekend and the faithful have been quick to point out that Bale hasn't hit the target for almost two months — and that goal was in a 9-1 win where he was overshadowed by four strikes by Cristiano Ronaldo.

But Ancelotti isn't down on the Welsh ace: "I think Bale's played a very good season."

"Last year he scored in important games and scored in all the finals. With any luck he could do same this year."

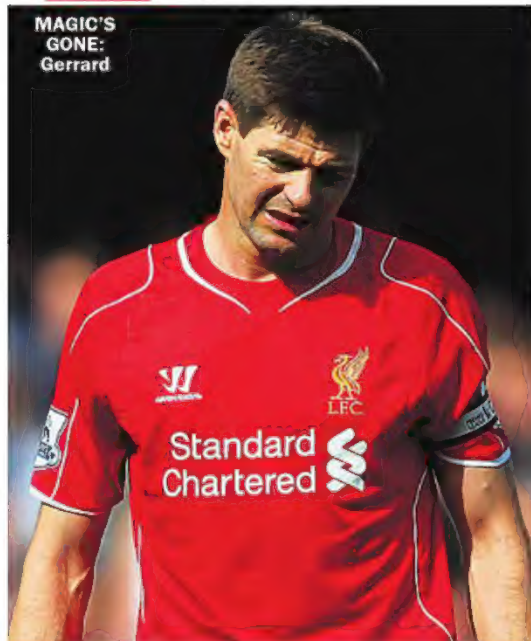

"But outside of this world where people speak, sometimes they speak too much. These people have never seen a training session."

"They don't know what it's like in a dressing room. They can only speak from the outside."

GERRARD: I'VE LOST THE BUZZ

By PETER HUGHES

STEVEN Gerrard has admitted that he doesn't get the same "buzz" as he used to when playing for Liverpool.

The Reds legend has just two more games before heading to the United States to play for LA Galaxy.

He is almost 35 now and says he feels differently about the game now that he's in more of a deep-lying role. And he says he's quitting Anfield because Brendan Rodgers was making him into a bit-part player.

He said: "I think the signs this year were that I'm going to become a squad player, play less."

"I was going to come on as a sub and the buzz changes."

"For me, I go to work on a Monday morning and I look forward to Saturday, to prepare to go to battle with some wonderful people — with good mates — and that's my buzz."

"When a manager gets you into the office and says that's going to change and it's going to become more limited — that's when you make your decision."

"It's not a selfish thing; coming on as a sub's just not the same buzz so things have changed this year."

And Stevie revealed that he's relieved not to be carrying an entire club on his shoulders any more, as he has been at Liverpool for 10 years or more.

He's looking forward to living a more anonymous life in California. He said:

BIT PART: Rodgers

"It lets you give a little back to your family."

"You step out of the city, you breathe for a bit, you enjoy your kids and you go to a place where you are going to enjoy it."

"I think the league's going to be good, I can still start games and I can still enjoy it."

City can splash cash

MANCHESTER City are free to spend, spend, spend this summer after UEFA dropped their threatened transfer cap.

The Blues fell foul of the financial fair play rules last summer and had their spending limited to £49million.

But Europe's governing body has confirmed that there is no sanction this time — so City's megarich owners can get the chequebook out.

That could clear the decks for a raid on Juventus where the former champions are desperate to get their hands on former Man United midfielder Paul Pogba.

Sir Alex Ferguson let Pogba head to Italy on a free transfer three seasons ago — a move that had many scratching their head at the time.

It will now cost somewhere in the region of £50million to bring him back to the Premier League to play on the other side of Manchester.

FOCUS ON FOOTBALL WRITERS'

IT HAZ TO BE EDEN!

Chelsea ace runs away with Player of the Year accolade

By MIKE MURRAY

NEXT season's Premier League comes with a Hazard warning.

The garden of Eden is blooming and that is official, twice.

Chelsea midfielder Eden Hazard has been voted the 2015 Footballer of the Year by the Football Writers' Association.

It follows the same accolade from his fellow stars at the Professional Footballers Awards ceremony.

It would be hard to argue with either verdict for a guy whose speed, agility, passing prowess and goalscoring ability has lit up the 2014-2015 campaign.

The Belgium international came out first in the poll of 300-plus journalists with 53 per cent of the vote, well ahead of Tottenham striker Harry Kane, who has enjoyed a stellar first top-flight season, with Hazard's Chelsea team-mate and captain John Terry third.

The 24-year-old playmaker has scored 20 goals in all competitions so far this season and created many more as Jose Mourinho's side secured a first Barclays Premier League title since 2009-2010.

Class

Hazard will be honoured with the prestigious FWA accolade, which has been running since 1948, at a gala dinner in London on May 21.

FWA chairman Andy Dunn said: "The list of truly world class players on the Football Writers' Association roll of honour is a long one and Eden Hazard is a worthy addition."

"A creator, a goalscorer and the hardest of workers, Hazard has been a constant source of threat for the Barclays Premier League champions."

"But it is not just his trickery, his pace, his artistry and his marksmanship that make Hazard such an invaluable component of Jose Mourinho's Chelsea squad, it is his durability."

"Hazard has started all 36 Premier League matches and, considering the particularly close attention he receives from opponents, that is a feat in itself."

Alongside Hazard and

Terry, Chelsea midfielder Cesc Fabregas, defender Branislav Ivanovic and Thibaut Courtois also featured in the FWA's top 10 players of the season.

The other players to win votes were Alexis Sanchez of Arsenal, Manchester United keeper David De Gea, Manchester City forward Sergio Aguero and Leicester veteran Esteban Cambiasso.

Bargain

Former Lille midfielder Hazard, signed by Chelsea for £32million in June 2012, was last week also named Player of the Year by the PFA.

By the modern standards of spending that £32m looks a bargain now.

But in contrast to a

UNDISPUTED STAR OF SEASON

WAY OUT IN FRONT: Eden Hazard has been the star turn this season, while John Terry (below) has come right back to his best youngster rapidly rising through the football firmament, how much does it say for Terry that he finished third?

Not everyone's cup of tea admittedly, but show me a cuddly centre-half and I'll show you a loser.

The 34-year-old captained England with distinction on and off for six years from 2006 before he jacked that job in.

Yet as his headed goal against Liverpool showed on Sunday he retains the appetite for a fight.

Like Tony Adams at Arsenal before him, he is a magnificent organiser of a defence that underpins a great side.

For him to get third behind his brilliant team-mate is arguably an even greater accolade, at his age and after being written off in so many quarters.

Especially as it is tougher for those doing the donkey work to attract attention as it is for the flair players.

It would surprise nobody if those two Chelsea boys were up there again next season.

Reward

Kane is a certainty for the shortlist, barring injury.

It would be nice to see Philippe Coutinho get some reward for carrying Liverpool on his back while West Brom's 32-year-old Joleon Lescott remains one of the most under-rated defenders on the planet.

But for now, speed that car up, the Hazard lights are on!

RIGHT TOP

NO WORRY: Mertesacker

It's Per-fect time to take on United

By JOHN ANTHONY

ARSENAL defender Per Mertesacker says Old Trafford is the ideal place to bounce back from their defeat against Swansea.

Jaws dropped as the Gunners were beaten 1-0 at the Emirates on Monday night, stopping their 10-match unbeaten run stone dead.

After that loss, Arsenal are third — three points behind second-placed Man City and just two ahead of United. So defeat at Old Trafford would see the Gunners drop into the dreaded fourth place.

That would mean a long summer with a qualifying round to get past before the money-spinning group stage.

But Mertesacker is confident, especially as his side have already knocked United out of the FA Cup on their own turf this season.

He said: "You could feel the disappointment in the dressing room after the Swansea game, because we gave so much, but we are still positive."

"We still have a good level of confidence, so we are looking forward to the remaining games."

Slick

"Finishing in the top three is very important when you look at the schedule, so we try to really avoid missing that."

Someone should tell him that Arsenal haven't won a league match at Old Trafford for NINE years.

But he thinks the Gunners' slick and fast passing will give the home side plenty to think about on Sunday.

He added: "We need to try to control the ball. They will want to keep the ball as much as possible."

"Can we restrict that? Can we get the ball in their half and break?"

CRUNCH: Wenger

Francis Coquelin did really well in that role last time."

Arsene Wenger has seen plenty of battles in Manchester before.

He knows they will have to play a lot better than the Swansea match to come away with anything but a spanking.

He said: "We should get encouragement because if we have done it for 10 games, we can do it again."

We haven't lost our quality here, so let's re-start on Sunday.

"Of course it makes that game important because the way you respond to a defeat always gives you a big idea that the team is strong mentally and that is what is expected of us on Sunday."

ANDY: I CAN'T TRUST YOU KP

NEW England cricket chief Andrew Strauss has told Kevin Pietersen that he won't be picked — because he can't trust him.

Maybe playing for England means he gets Strauss's PIN number or the keys to his house — otherwise it's a massively wet thing for a boss to say.

But he said it anyway: "No one has ever doubted Kevin Pietersen's ability as a player. He has been a phenomenal player for England over a long period of time and he should be very proud of that record."

"But over a period of months and years, the trust between himself and the ECB has eroded. There's a massive trust issue between Kevin and I."

"I wish that wasn't the case. I'm not apportioning blame — it's just a fact."

Strauss can be proud of one thing — he's made English cricket a laughing stock before he's even sat at his new desk for the first time.

And big names from around the world wasted no time in taking the piss.

Puzzled

Former South African captain Graeme Smith stuck the knife into Strauss: "I see the head boy is making English cricket a laughing stock again!"

Shane Warne added: "If Strauss wanted instant public acceptance & the whole country to support Eng again, he should have said, 'I want KP back in the team!'"

And there were puzzled faces all round as Strauss revealed that he had offered KP a role advising on one-day cricket. You'd think there would be some trust needed for that — as legend Kumar Sangakkara picked up on Twitter: "I don't trust KP enough for him to play for England but I trust him enough to advise me on ODI cricket #strausslogic."

Not the greatest start for Strauss but this stick will be nothing compared to what he'll get if the Aussies give us a right pasting this summer.

STERLING WE GO

Raheem leaving for Champs League

RAHEEM Sterling is to sell Liverpool down the river for 30 pieces of gold.

The youngster is about to jump the Anfield ship for the desire of Champions League football.

It's a kick in the teeth for Brendan Rodgers, the manager who nurtured him and guided him.

The only compensation for the Red end of Merseyside is they will trouser the fat end of £50million, with Man City in the driving seat to land him.

One of Liverpool's finest Phil Thompson insists the move is a done deal. He said:

By TREVOR CLEMENTS

"I think it will be very difficult for him to stay at Liverpool now."

"He's shown all the signs that he's ready and prepared to leave the club."

"But if he was to stay I would like to think his role will be on the flanks — I don't think Liverpool can even contemplate him being their main striker next season, because he's not a natural goalscorer."

"Liverpool need somebody who's going to get you at least 15 league goals and maybe 25 overall — Sterling is not going to get you that."

He's done well for the team — he's helped them out up front this season, but I think everyone can see that he's not quite strong enough for it."

To many of the fans, Sterling offers a flair and a poetic movement that echoes of the likes of John Barnes and even further back, Ian Callaghan.

Cutting

But Thommo is probably right. That final pass, that cutting edge... well it isn't all it ought to be.

There remains an air of optimism around Anfield though, despite missing out on a vital three points against

Chelsea. Thommo added: "Liverpool had Jerome Sinclair coming off the bench and also Jordan Ibe."

"I think he can be just as good as Sterling in that wide role — but it still showed the gulf in quality between the squads."

"Both of those lads are under 20, yet Chelsea had Gary Cahill, Nemanja Matic and Juan Cuadrado coming on — three established internationals."

"I think part of the substitutions was maybe Brendan saying 'look, this is all I've got to work with here', although it is nice to have youngsters coming through the ranks at the club again."
